

Early Notice for Teachers Who Like to Plan Ahead...

Opportunity for Teacher Recertification coming your way in July 2010
This training is being offered FREE OF CHARGE!

Mark your calendar for Autism: Behavior Based Instructional Strategies (ABBIS) a nine day course for certified teachers serving students with Autism.

What is ABBIS? Autism: Behavior Based instructional Strategies is a training course designed for classroom teachers serving students with autism. The emphasis is on key skills that teachers need to set up and to manage effective instructional programs. Some of the elementary principles of Applied Behavior Analysis are taught and form the foundational concepts for all of the skills trained in this 9-day course. Over the 9 days participants complete a Student-Class Profile in which they identify significant traits of autism displayed by their students and with guidance they apply and individualize the strategies to meet specific needs of their students. ABBIS is an intensive course. ABBIS has been approved by the South Carolina Department of Education for teacher certificate renewal.

Apply now to ABBIS using the registration form on the reverse side of this flyer. Please note: sending a completed registration form is not a guarantee of acceptance.

Individuals accepted into ABBIS will receive information about times, directions and other details.

NOTICE TO CLASSROOM TEACHERS: In addition to ABBIS other training sessions offered by the Autism Division qualify for renewal credits. Refer to the course descriptions in the Autism Division Training Calendar and contact your local school district's Staff Development Coordinator for clarification.
